

The ownership of broadcast media should be limited in this country, because when several media outlets are owned by the same people there is the danger that they can exert undue influence on the hearts and minds of the public for ill. There should always be room for different opinions, and when that is gone, we are in a very dangerous position.